Moab Cares

• About our Community
• About our Visitors

As we recover and begin resuming our usual activities during the Covid-19 crisis, we want to ensure the safety of our visitors and locals alike. While restrictions or recommendations may change, we want to let you know that Moab is striving to keep our destination a safe, healthy place to live and visit.

What Moab is doing as a destination:

- Adhering to the guidelines set forth by the Southeast Utah Health Department and the Governor of Utah.
- Supporting the temporary closure of national parks and camping on public lands. These closures are important to help Grand County and the Southeast Utah Health Department manage the phased reopening of lodging in Grand County by controlling the amount of recreational tourism that increases impacts upon our small, critical-access hospital, medical and law enforcement teams, Grand County EMS and Search & Rescue.
- Providing hand-washing stations throughout town.
- Facilitating social distancing as much as possible.

What Moab is asking you to do:

- Wear a mask in indoor public spaces and when you cannot socially distance.
- Wash your hands with soap for at least 20 seconds.
- Use hand sanitizer when hand washing isn't available
- Sneeze or cough into your elbow.
- Avoid touching your face.
- Use social distancing as much as possible.
- If sick, avoid contact with others and self-quarantine.

Please wear a mask in indoor public spaces, and when you cannot socially distance.
